Background information on National Energy Action

NEA – the national energy charity

National Energy Action (NEA) is the national charity which works to eradicate fuel poverty and campaigns for greater investment in energy efficiency to help those who are poor or vulnerable to be able to stay affordably warm. NEA works in partnership with central and local government, fuel utilities, housing providers, consumer groups and voluntary organisations to promote energy efficiency with the aim of bringing social, environmental, housing and employment benefits to communities. NEA currently employs over 170 staff at our national headquarters in Newcastle upon Tyne and in regional offices across England, Wales and Northern Ireland.

NEA achieves its objectives through:

- Developing and managing practical projects which demonstrate innovative ways of tackling fuel poverty and bringing the wider benefits of energy efficiency to communities.
- Carrying out research and analysis into the causes and extent of fuel poverty and the developing policies which address the problem.
- Providing advice and guidance on good practice in delivering energy efficiency services to low-income householder.
- Developing national qualifications and managing their implementation to improve the standards of practical work and the quality of energy advice.
- Campaigning to ensure social and environmental objectives are brought together under national energy efficiency programmes.

NEA is the leading national fuel poverty charity. Please visit our website at www.nea.org.uk to find out more about our work.

National Energy Action's Structure

NEA is governed by a Board of Trustees and headed up by its Chief Executive Officer. The Charity comprises of five distinct Directorates:

- Communities
- Development & Partnerships
- Homes
- Policy and Advocacy
- Support Services

The post of Energy Adviser sits within the Communities Directorate and reports to a Project Development Manager.

The Communities Directorate – delivering projects and services.

NEA seeks to advise and support householders directly via a range of projects delivered by the Communities Directorate. We deliver a varied programme of work throughout England and Wales and work with the Development & Partnerships Directorate to offer advice and support services directly to householders and frontline staff working with vulnerable and fuel poor householders. We deliver accredited training courses, income maximisation and technical services. Responsibilities of the two directorates are divided as follows:

Communities (UK)	Development & Partnerships (UK)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Warm and Safe Homes Advice Line • Community Engagement • Operational Partnerships • Incomes Maximisation and Benefits Advice 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Training and Education • Technical Services • Project Design and Delivery • Engagement with Smart Meter Roll Out

NEA obtains sponsorship and funding from a range of sources to enable the charity to meet its objectives to work with public, private and community sector partners to develop innovative projects which seek to establish good practice in bringing affordable warmth solutions to low income and vulnerable households. Lessons learned from project delivery are evaluated to inform NEA’s policy recommendations to central and local government, consumer bodies or other partners. Our staff have a range of skills, including specialisms in community engagement and partnership development, technical understanding of energy efficiency measures, training delivery and skills development (including examination and assessment), fuel debt advice and the health impacts of fuel poverty.

About the post

NEA has several office locations throughout England, Wales and Northern Ireland and welcomes applicants from all regions.

Home working or office-based locations (depending on proximity to a NEA office) are available but post-holders must be resident within the UK and able to prove their right to work in the UK. Homeworking is subject to the completion of a risk assessment.

NEA delivers energy advice and support directly to householders via our Warm and Safe Homes (WASH) helpline or via our webchat. Clients are initially triaged then any client needing more in-depth support is referred through to an Energy Adviser. Most of our clients are vulnerable householders who are contacting the charity for a range of energy related advice matters and so our Energy Advisers need to be empathetic, polite and have good listening skills but also need to be knowledgeable and confident to provide support to clients, some of whom may be in difficult circumstances.

Working within our Communities Directorate the Energy Adviser role is for those with experience of giving Energy Advice and helping others. Therefore, it is vital that you have empathy, confidence and knowledge of the issues facing vulnerable low-income households.

The post holder's main responsibilities will be to provide one to one advice to clients referred through the WASH helpline as described above and to deliver energy advice presentations to groups. In support of this, other tasks will also include:

- Provision of day-to-day support to our customers and partners (referral organisations).
- Processing, resolving or escalating client queries in line with the internal process.
- Development of referral pathways and identification of opportunities to deliver energy presentations.
- Maintenance of appropriate client records and necessary data using client management systems to ensure the progress of work towards project targets is monitored and that project outcomes are fully recorded.

The post holder will be responsible for the delivery of services on a range of projects which will demonstrate good practice in delivery of affordable warmth for low income and vulnerable householders.

This post provides an exciting and rewarding opportunity to help the charity deliver its work programme and build its profile amongst regional stakeholders whilst developing and working on projects that bring social benefits and improvements to the well-being of low income and vulnerable householders whilst also meeting environmental goals.

As NEA is a national charity, there is an expectation that delivery of project activity may also require periodic travel and occasional overnight stays throughout England.

This post is subject to enhanced vetting and barring check.
